COMPREHENSIVE COVERAGE

A self-defense incident is any incident where force is used pursuant to a reasonable belief that use of deadly force is necessary to protect from imminent danger of death or great bodily harm. This includes any necessary force with all legal weapons and physical force to defend against a life-threatening attack in self-defense.

WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW

- The recent string of high-profile mass shootings in the U.S. is a reminder violence can happen anywhere, prompting some faith leaders to ramp up security at houses of worship across the country
- In the U.S., FBI hate crime statistics show that incidents in churches, synagogues, temples and mosques increased 34.8% between 2014 and 2018
- Historically, sanctuaries have been vulnerable to violent attacks – from bombings at Black churches during the Civil Rights era to more recent shootings in the U.S. at houses of worship.
- From $25 million in 2016 to $180 million last year, the federal government has steadily increased the amount of funding it sets aside to help the faith community with security costs. (Source: AP News)
